Catholic Charities BOSTON

Thank you from the President & CEO

For more than 100 years, Catholic Charities Boston has been a source of stability, support, and service for our neighbors in Eastern Massachusetts navigating some of life's greatest challenges.

This past year, cuts to once-reliable social safety nets created new levels of anxiety among the families we serve and greater demands for our services. Despite those challenges, and thanks to your generosity, Catholic Charities Boston was there for those who needed us most.

We are called, with your support, to stay true to our mission and provide a sense of calm and reliable information to empower individuals and families toward economic stability. We do that every day by providing families with financial assistance to keep their heat on in the winter, by providing nutritious food, by helping youth develop necessary life skills, and by supporting our senior citizens to ensure they are not alone.

We are thrilled to share that the state has entrusted us with a vacant parcel in Brockton for a new Catholic Charities center that, for the first time, will include affordable housing. A historic and transformational project like this is only possible because of you. Your generosity strengthened our fundraising efforts throughout the year, including our Spring Celebration and Ash Wednesday parish collection, providing critical resources to support our work. That same spirit of generosity brought hope to families during the holidays, helping Catholic Charities distribute 4,000 Thanksgiving meals and hundreds of Christmas gifts.

Vision for new Multi-Service Center in Brockton

At a time when the prevailing headwinds are relentless, we are incredibly proud that Catholic Charities can help bridge the gap between uncertainty and stability. And we do it without hesitation, affirming that every person should be treated with dignity and compassion.

At this year's Spring Celebration, honoree Tim Sweeney, Chairman, President & CEO of Liberty Mutual, said Catholic Charities "reminds us that a strong community is measured not only by its success, but by how it cares for those most in need."

Thank you for your continued care and commitment to strengthening families and communities throughout Eastern Massachusetts.

With gratitude,

Kelley Tuthill
